Hands-on workshops that are part of our academic conduct requires a lot of skills in terms of welding, drilling, cutting of heavy materials etc. which is equally used by girl students. College encouraging both male and female students to participate equally in these workshops is essential for promoting gender equality and fostering an inclusive learning environment by provides equal training opportunities and support to all students, regardless of their gender. Sports and cultural events promote equal participation from girl students

On the occasion of Ganesh Festival college organized sports activities like mixed-gender tug of war competition where teams are composed of both Girl's and boy's participants. While traditional sports like tug of war may have been historically perceived as predominantly male-oriented. This not only showcases that both genders can compete together but also highlights the importance of teamwork and communication across students.

Placement details of last year showing encouragement of both girls' and boys' students

Recognizing the importance of addressing gender disparities, the college makes special efforts to encourage girls' parents to support their daughters' pursuit of jobs in city areas. Through counseling, and interaction with successful alumni, the college aims to dispel misconceptions and instill confidence in parents regarding the job prospects available for girls in cities.

In 2023, the college achieves a noteworthy milestone as it successfully places a total of seven students in various offices, of which four are girls and two boys. This achievement reflects the positive impact of the college's efforts in empowering and guiding its students, particularly girls, to explore job opportunities outside their immediate vicinity.

Summary:

On the occasion of International Women's Day, program have arranged on 'Women Personal Hygiene' in Classroom 1. On 08 March 2022. Program was conducted by Dr. Varsha Mahavarkar who is the well-known doctor of the locality. Dr Varsha told students that International Women's Day is a globally celebrated annually on March 8 to commemorate the cultural, political, and socioeconomic achievements of women. It is also a focal point in the women's rights movement, bringing attention to issues such as gender equality, reproductive rights, and violence and abuse against women. It began back in February 1909.

The following year, at the second International Conference of Working Women in Copenhagen, Denmark, women's rights activist Clara Zetkin called for an international women's day to give women a greater voice to further their demands for equal rights. Dr. Varsha discussed menstrual hygiene is a subject which is as old as humanity but has gained recent importance due to the readiness of the society to accept its challenges. Young girls of some communities across various cultures, consider menstruation as a taboo. They feel that menstruation is a curse or burden. People considered women as filthy & impure in their menstrual period. Many communities restrict menstruating women from activities such as cooking, touching food, being with family members, attending religious ceremonies, and bathing. Sanitary pads lead to rashes, the feeling of wetness and being uncomfortable, leaks, odour. They must be changed every 6 hours, according to medical professionals, and if you do not change them, they can either lead to leaks or cause foul odour and also pose a threat to your health. It is not possible to swim on your period if you use sanitary pads. Tampons, on the other hand, are better than pads as they do not cause rashes and similar troubles but cannot be left inside for longer than 8 hours. If left in the vagina for longer than that, they can cause Toxic Shock Syndrome. However, they still burn a hole in your pocket and also contribute to waste and degrade the environment. Leaks and odour are also common problems in women who use tampons, just like sanitary pads. The newest entrant when it comes to sanitary hygiene is menstrual cups that have been gaining popularity for the last year among urban women. Known to be environment-friendly, a lot of women vouch for the fact that their entire period experience has changed since they switched to menstrual cups and there definitely are reasons.

So we invite Dr.Varsha Mahavalkar to educate students to use menstrual cup and its advantages. Dr.Varsha is researching on menstrual cups so it was helpful for our girls to understand the importance of using menstrual cups.

The event's conclusion was marked by a heartfelt vote of thanks delivered by Ar. Charuta sonparote, the teacher coordinator, thanked Dr. Varsha Mahavarkar, the students, faculty, and staff who contributed their time and effort to make the seminar a success.
